The Algocloud symposium is a premier forum for the presentation and discussion of new research in all areas of cloud computing. The symposium will feature a keynote address by a leading researcher in the field, as well as a number of invited talks and contributed papers.

The symposium is organized by the Algocloud Research Group at the University of Helsinki. The group is led by Professor Mika Ylianttila, who is a leading researcher in the field of cloud computing.

The Algocloud symposium is an important event for the cloud computing community. The symposium provides a unique opportunity to learn about the latest advances in cloud computing and to network with other researchers and practitioners in the field.

Call for Papers

The Algocloud symposium invites submissions of original research papers on all aspects of cloud computing. Topics of interest include, but are not limited to:

- Cloud architecture and design

- Cloud applications and services

- Cloud security and privacy

- Cloud performance and scalability

- Cloud economics and business models

Submitted papers must be original and not previously published. Papers must be formatted according to the Algocloud symposium style guidelines.

The deadline for paper submissions is March 15, 2024.

Important Dates

- Paper submission deadline: March 15, 2024

- Notification of acceptance: May 15, 2024

- Camera-ready paper submission deadline: June 15, 2024

- Symposium dates: August 20-21, 2024

Registration

Registration for the Algocloud symposium is now open. The registration fee is €300 for early bird registration (before June 1, 2024) and €400 for late registration (after June 1, 2024).

To register for the symposium, please visit the symposium website.

Accommodation

A block of rooms has been reserved at the Hotel Kämp for symposium attendees. The hotel is located in the heart of Helsinki, just a short walk from the symposium venue. To book a room, please contact the hotel directly and mention the Algocloud symposium.
