

Red House Tree House Little Bitty Brown Mouse

Once upon a time, there was a little bitty brown mouse named Bitty. Bitty lived in a tiny house under a big, red tree. Bitty loved her home, but she dreamed of seeing the world beyond her little tree.

Red House, Tree House, Little Bitty Brown Mouse

by John Pasden

★★★★★ 5 out of 5

Language : English

File size : 17675 KB

Print length : 41 pages

Screen Reader : Supported

One day, Bitty decided to go on an adventure. She packed a tiny backpack with some cheese and berries, and she set off into the forest.

Bitty walked and walked until she came to a big, old tree house. The tree house was painted red, and it had a big, green door.

Bitty knocked on the door, and a kind old mouse opened it. "Hello," said the mouse. "What can I do for you?"

"I'm Bitty," said the little mouse. "I live in a tiny house under a big, red tree. I'm on an adventure, and I was wondering if I could stay here for the night."

"Of course," said the old mouse. "Come in, come in." Bitty stepped into the tree house, and she was amazed. The tree house was full of all sorts of interesting things. There were books and toys, and there was even a little kitchen.

Bitty and the old mouse talked and laughed, and they quickly became friends. Bitty told the old mouse all about her adventures, and the old mouse told Bitty all about her life in the tree house.

When it was time for bed, the old mouse gave Bitty a tiny bed to sleep in. Bitty curled up in the bed and fell fast asleep.

The next morning, Bitty woke up to the smell of breakfast cooking. She got out of bed and went into the kitchen. The old mouse was making pancakes.

"Good morning, Bitty," said the old mouse. "I hope you slept well."

"I did," said Bitty. "Thank you."

Bitty and the old mouse ate breakfast together, and then it was time for Bitty to go.

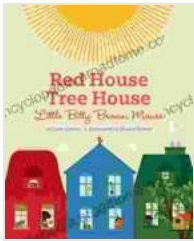

"Thank you for letting me stay here," said Bitty. "I had a wonderful time."

"You're welcome, Bitty," said the old mouse. "Come back and visit me again sometime."

Bitty said goodbye to the old mouse and set off on her journey home.

Bitty walked and walked until she came to her little house under the big, red tree. She was so happy to be home, but she also knew that she would never forget her adventure in the red house tree house.

The end.

Red House, Tree House, Little Bitty Brown Mouse

by John Pasden

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ 5 out of 5

Language : English

File size : 17675 KB

Print length : 41 pages

Screen Reader: Supported

Break Free from the Obesity Pattern: A Revolutionary Approach with Systemic Constellation Work

Obesity is a global pandemic affecting millions worldwide. While traditional approaches focus on dieting and exercise, these often fall short in addressing the underlying...

Robot World Cup XXIII: The Ultimate Guide to Advanced Robotics Research and Innovation

The Robot World Cup XXIII: Lecture Notes in Computer Science 11531 is a comprehensive guide to the latest advancements in robotics research and innovation. This prestigious...